WHOLE NUMBER 1393

FOR MAGISTRATE

A. C. Sexton of Ezel, while in town on Saturday, made his regular announcement as a candidate for magistrate in district no. 2 on the Democratic ticket in the August primary.

Mr. Sexton is a farmer 56 years old, a man of good judgment and ripe business experience. He was deputy sheriff some years ago and served with distinction and honor.

Mr. Sexton has always affiliated with the Democratic party, and taken a keen interest in the success of his party. He has never before asked for an elective office.

District no. 2 is strongly Democratic, as also is Mr. Sexton's voting precinct. Mr. Sexton's ambition is to make the county a good official, and his neighbors, who know him best, will pass on his claims for the opportunity.

Strawberries in Johnson County

With 40 acres of commercial berries marketed this year, definite plans have been made for the development of strawberry production in Johnson county. At least 100 acres will be set next year, farmers signing up to turn under cowpeas and rye in preparation for setting one to three acres each. At least 30 4-H club boys also will have a quarter acre or more each.

The market opened this year at $3.60 a crate, most of the berries going to Ashland, Huntington, and Charleston. Ben Niles, secretary of the Kentucky State Horticultural society, and W. W. Magill, extension field agent for the state college of agriculture, assisted County Agent Justice L. Pidcock and farmers in formulating plans for the development of the industry.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

On next Sunday, June 27, the M. E. church, South, of Prestonsburg, will hold an anniversary service in observance of the building of the present church building, but commemorating also the building of the first church in Prestonsburg in 1883. The morning service will be historical in nature, presenting the story of the building of the two buildings. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock a service known as a "that reminds me service" will be held at which time members of the congregation will share with each other the happenings of the long ago. At the evening hour the church will be lighted with oil lamps and lanterns, an old-fashioned organ will furnish the music, and songs that were used in the old church will be sung.

A buffet dinner will be served in the dining room of the church at the noon hour. It is expected that many visitors will be present, as a general invitation is being extended to former residents of the town, and to friends of Prestonsburg people.

SUPERVISORY PROGRAM

The teachers and all concerned feel that the supervisory program last year was helpful, progressive, successful, and worth while, and building on the progress made last year, keeping the good and discarding the bad as far as we know, our program for this year should be better.

We have already begun to plan and make our program for the coming year. We are now collecting material and editing the bulletin for this year. It is being mimeographed and thus saving the expense of printing. 350 copies are being made. It will contain about 60 pages and will give records of progress made last year, dedication program, a calendar, school fair catalog, graphs, standards, cartoons, facts about Kentucky, daily schedules, conference program (July 9 and 20), list of teachers, and special program for holidays and other entertainments.

Thirty pages have already been mimeographed and we expect to have the bulletin completed by July 15. All teachers are expected to file a transcript of their credits and have a physical examination before school begins. Letters to this effect have gone out to all teachers explaining fully procedure regarding same.

Teachers should make a survey of their districts at once and check on the number in each grade so they may know the number of textbooks needed. Teachers will be notified later as to when they may receive the free textbooks.

NYA GIRLS AT WORK

The West Liberty NYA girls' project is progressing nicely. We have 33 girls working on this project. They work in two groups. There are five of these girls doing clerical work in the different offices in town, thereby gaining much good experience in typing, bookkeeping, how to receive people, etc. This training could not be received any other way because of the lack of money for special training. The girls on the regular sewing project are turning out some well made garments. The past month they have made several quilt tops, quilted two quilts, and made numerous sun suits and children's dresses. This material is all furnished by the NYA, and our co-sponsor, the Morgan county board of education, furnished the rent, heat, and light. These articles are turned over to the local relief department for distribution to the needy families of Morgan county.

These girls come to work with a very good attitude toward their work. They are very easy to work with, and are very anxious to learn all about sewing. It is not our desire to turn out professional seamstresses, but to give these girls practical experience and the fundamentals of sewing in order that they will sew for their own families and make thrifty housewives. It is a pleasure and gives lasting satisfaction to any woman to be able to sit down to a machine and make a dress or coat for some member of her family.

We are limited in our amount of materials to work with, but feel we are doing a great work. We do some hand work as well as sew on the machines.

The Singer Sewing Machine Company has been very generous with books of instructions and illustrations that have been sent to this center in West Liberty.

We are sure the girls appreciate this opportunity of employment and the people of Morgan county should be proud of the finished garments they receive thru this great organization, the National Youth Administration.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Blair invited a number of children in Monday afternoon in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter Ella Jo. The little folks had a jolly time playing games. Ella Jo was happy to have daddy come home just in time. She and five other little great-grandchildren gave their great-grandmother, Mrs. Louisa McClain, an honored position where she enjoyed all their sports as she smiled happily upon them. Her grandmother, Mrs. W. O. Blair, also took great delight in all their pleasure.

Others present were Lowell, Gene, and Garry Crestin Carter, Letha Nell Blair, Clarence Black, Gene Davis, Reese, Robert Lee Blair, Ruth Craft, Margaret Ann Adkins, Bill Nell May, J. C. Lykins, Larue Peyton, Johnny and Pauline Blair, Lena Bayes, Helen Pay Sebastian, Jimmy Dale Howard, Walter Blevins, Frederick Lane Blair, Mrs. Byron Carter, Mrs. Lee Bayes, Mrs. W. T. Caskey, Mrs. Stanley Blair, Miss Beulah Hammond, and Miss Thelma Black.

There were a beautiful cake with candles, other cakes, candy, and lemonade for refreshments. Then they happily turned homeward.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Methodist Missionary society met June 17 at the home of Mrs. D. H. Perry for regular business meeting. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Clifton Neikirk. Mrs. Yandal Wrather sang a solo, "Abide with Me." Mrs. W. A. Caskey led in prayer. Dues paid, $16 donation to charity, and 60 visits to sick were reported by Mrs. Ruth Gullett, chairman of the social service committee. Regular business was transacted and plans were made to attend the zone meeting at Mt. Zion church in the near future. The hostess served delightful refreshments. The meeting adjourned to meet the following Thursday at the church.

Present were Mrs. Clifton Neikirk, Mrs. W. A. Caskey, Mrs. T. H. Caskey, Mrs. C. P. Henry, Mrs. A. P. Gullett, Mrs. Leona Rose, Mrs. D. R. Keeton, Mrs. James Franklin, Mrs. S. D. Gullett, Mrs. N. C. Gullett, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Rollie Elam, Mrs. Yandal Wrather, Mrs. Sherman Lewis, Mrs. Bill Childers, Mrs. Earl Price, and Mrs. D. H. Perry.

Mrs. John Siegle of Detroit is here visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Childers.

William Allen Blair and a friend, John Roebuck, of Berea college, were week end guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Blair.

Asa Gullett and his friend, Benton Fielder, of Berea college, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Gullett. Asa returned to Berea two or three days before his birthday, his mother and sister prepared a fine dinner Sunday by way of celebration. Miss Katherine Gevedon of Grassy and Miss Virginia Nickell also were guests.

Ova Black made a trip to Lexington on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams left last week for Milan, Ohio.

Bess Allen, Leona Rose, and Nell Rose were in Lexington Wednesday.

Misses Louise and Jessie Tyree attended church Sunday at War Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lykins are moving into rooms of Mrs. J. D. Lykins.

Mrs. E. M. Williams and daughter are visiting relatives in Clarke and Montgomery counties this week.

Mrs. Mamie Tyree and son Gerald and daughter Lola, of War Creek, made a business trip here Friday.

Mrs. Vinson Williams of Florence made a quick trip here Tuesday to bring her sick baby to the doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Boles and daughter Harriet Jane, of Chicago, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Caskey here, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Black, Charles Black, and Mrs. Ova Black and son Richard Lee attended a good meeting Sunday at War Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Asbury and family Paul, Helen, and Catherine, of Stroh, Ind., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Chess Dyer this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Elliott of New London, Ohio, were Saturday dinner guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Elliott, on Glen avenue. Mrs. Elliott was called here for the funeral of her brother, Kelly Williams.

Miss Avenelle Jones of Paintsville is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. D. Moore.

Delbert Price has gone into business in the room known as the Rathskeller.

Mrs. Clarence May and children, of Mt. Sterling, visited in West Liberty over the week end.

Miss Lurline Reed of Semiway visited her friend, Miss Virginia Nickell here, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McClain and children Jimmie and Letha Nell are spending this week in Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Reed of Semiway attended the funeral of Kelly Williams last week and visited friends until Sunday.

Charles Black and Mrs. Ova Black and son Richard Lee ate Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tyree of War Creek.

Mrs. Joe Elam of Lexington returned home last week after a week's visit here with her brother, W. A. Caskey, and family.

J. C. Nickell brought his little daughter Imogene home Sunday from Murphyfork, where she had spent a week with her grandparents.

Miss Helen Stacy is in Winchester this week attending the district conference of the young people's division of the Methodist church. She is a delegate sent by the local organization.

Mrs. Garfield of Middletown, O., who visited a few days with her uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Burns McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKenzie, and Mrs. Bruce McKenzie, returned home Sunday.

GRACIOUS MRS. ROOSEVELT

On June 10, 1937, there appeared in the Licking Valley Courier a news item bearing the title "Gracious Mrs. Roosevelt," concerning Mrs. Roosevelt's thoughtfulness in sending a bouquet of finest carnations to Mr. W. H. Stacy, high sheriff of this county. Mrs. Roosevelt was unable to visit the sick bed of Mr. Stacy during her visit to West Liberty but when she returned to the White House she demonstrated her graciousness. In another paragraph following this phase of the article there was a paragraph which read thus:

"On the day of Mrs. Roosevelt's appearance here, a small, oldish, back country woman brought a pretty bunch of wild flowers which she had gathered and offered them to the committee to present to Mrs. Roosevelt. The committee had already made extensive high priced floral decorations and scorned the old lady's offering. Not to be denied, however, the lady took a position at a door thru which Mrs. Roosevelt must pass and reached the flowers to her."

It is the desire of the members of the reception committee to correct this article to keep an unfavorable impression from resulting.

The reception committee desires to state the facts to the best of their knowledge as they occurred. Mrs. Mayo from Prestonsburg was a very intelligent lady and nicely dressed. She came to Mrs. J. Blaine Nickell's residence, where the reception committee was holding a meeting, and asked if she might be given the opportunity to present some flowers that she had gathered from her garden. A member of the reception committee told her they were sure there would be no objections so far as they knew. She asked the committee where would be the best place to meet her. She was informed by the committee that probably in the reception room of the new high school building just after Mrs. Roosevelt had been received by the reception committee that she would probably have that opportunity. The reception committee at that time when the inquiry was made had but little definite information as to when and how Mrs. Roosevelt would be entertained and just how many people would be able to meet Mrs. Roosevelt. The article referred to the high priced floral decorations of the committee, which was untrue, because what decorations were in the reception room represented the untiring efforts of the committee in securing donations in order that their room might look reasonably well. All of the flowers in the reception room were donated. Mrs. Mayo gladly waited until Mrs. Roosevelt was introduced to the reception committee by Mr. Haney and Mr. Gamble and then Mr. Haney presented Mrs. Mayo to Mrs. Roosevelt who in turn presented the flowers to Mrs. Roosevelt. The reception committee certainly would have been glad if every one of the thousands who were present had been able to have met her. The article could have just as well referred to the thousands of others who were present and unable to meet Mrs. Roosevelt. We, as members of the reception committee, were proud of the great day and wish to apologize for any errors that we have made; because if we made any errors, they were made innocently.

Mr. and Mrs. Day have three children: Inez Childers, West Liberty; Floyd Day, Middletown, Ohio; and Robert Day Jr., Menifee county. There are ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. All enjoyed the day with them, with the exception of one great-grandchild.

Mr. Day is a brother of the late Judge B. F. Day of Mt. Sterling. He has two sisters and one brother in Illinois.

Mr. Day has been a great lover of Masonry all his life. He was master of the Maytown lodge seven terms, and at present is master of Beaver lodge no. 505, at Frenchburg. He attended the district meeting at West Liberty last week. Mr. Day also took an active part in establishing the Ezel high school a number of years ago.

Sunday was a beautiful day and dinner was served on two long tables on the lawn to over sixty neighbors, friends, and relatives. There was a lovely gold cake, flavored with orange and covered with gold icing. There were seven other cakes, pies, chicken, meat loaf, and everything that makes up a real Kentucky feast. Some of the relatives brought their stringed instruments and played the honored couple's favorite hymns. Pictures were taken and all reluctantly prepared to depart as they wished the happy couple many more happy years together.

Mr. and Mrs. Day are members of the Methodist church. Mrs. Day's health has not been so good the past year. Mr. Day is of fine physique, is in perfect health, and does not use glasses. He always says he attributes this to the splendid heritage from his parents. His father lived to be 82 and his mother to be 92.

Mrs. Lou Cox, who has been sick the past few weeks, is about the same.

PATRICK

Roe Patrick, age 67, of Johnson Fork, died June 17. He was a well known citizen and farmer of Magoffin county. He died of heart trouble following an illness of two years.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Rolan and Lucian, of Huntington, W. Va.; two daughters, Mrs. W. C. Kohlmer of Norwood, Ohio, and Mrs. M. V. Walden of Winchester; four sisters, Mrs. Wm. Adams of Seco, Mrs. Jas. M. Sharkey of Milan, Ind., Mrs. Paris Benton of Batavia, Ohio, and Mrs. Jas. Arnett of Lee City; and three brothers, Proctor of Lexington, Bruce of Seco, and Malcolm of Mt. Sterling.

MAY

Mrs. Hannah May, near West Liberty, was born Nov. 21, 1864, and died June 18, 1937, age 72 years and 5 months. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lewis.

She was married about 52 years ago to Lee C. May, who preceded her in death about four months ago. To this union were born eight children, as follows: Landford of Jeffersonville, Ohio; Mrs. Bill Gardner (deceased), of Illinois; Mrs. Lizzie Brown, Miss Grace May, and Jim Tom May, of West Liberty; Taylor May of Licking River; and Winfred May and Mrs. Dell Lancaster of Illinois.

Also surviving are three brothers, Jim Lewis of Yocum and Math and Frank Lewis of Licking River; two sisters, Mrs. Phelps Lewis of Ross-ville, Kansas, and Mrs. Fannie Day of Middletown, Ohio; several grandchildren, and many other relatives and friends.

Mrs. May was converted early in life and was a member of the Enterprise Baptist church at Wells Hill. She lived a good Christian life and was a kind, loving friend and neighbor and will be sadly missed by all.

Funeral services were conducted at the home cemetery by Revs. Coiza Helton of West Liberty, Roy Potter of War Creek, Ernest Gross of West Liberty, and Jim F. Turner of Spaw Creek, on June 20.

Mrs. May had been in bad health about a year, but was thought to be getting better. She took suddenly worse on Monday and died on Friday. She went to meet the Savior she loved and served so faithfully.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Day, near Frenchburg, parents of Mrs. W. H. Childers of this place, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 20.

R. A. Day was born at Maytown on April 10, 1867, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Day.

Miss Fannie Patrick was born in Magoffin county Oct. 10, 1867, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Patrick.

R. A. Day and Miss Fannie Patrick were married in Covington on June 20, 1887, by W. T. Shine, county judge of Kenton county. They lived 35 years at Maytown, where he was a merchant until 1914, when his property was destroyed by fire. His home in Menifee county was destroyed by fire in 1933 at a complete loss. They built again at that place and still make their living by selling merchandise. They are comfortable livers and very happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Day have three children: Inez Childers, West Liberty; Floyd Day, Middletown, Ohio; and Robert Day Jr., Menifee county. There are ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. All enjoyed the day with them, with the exception of one great-grandchild.

"Besides why worry? A draughtsman of practical things could always find work, I thought. But something always came between—the persistent story that I could not be trusted. It was a few weeks here and there, until two weeks ago, being at my wits' ends, I started for Westover to put my wife, though much against her will, with an aunt who, we believed, lived here, while I made one more effort."

"The aunt could not be found; as I now know the Westover where she lives is in another state. We could get no further and meeting a man with whom I once worked, who tends the horses for the Railroad company, he let us rest here. It was his wife also that helped Marie. Of course you may say we took the risk in marrying, but if the poor did not take risks the world would have died out long ago. If the ghost of that old story does not follow me, possibly I may find work at Westover."

There was nothing, save the dramatic setting, that was new in the man's story as he told it, and yet something held Eleanor spellbound. She lived in a city of perpetual misfortune and was familiar with the sort of begging that can so often be traced to mere shiftlessness. Also she was not one who was accustomed to assume responsibility, or even theoretically wash the feet of beggars. Yet her heart thrilled and yearned toward this woman and her child and she never for a moment doubted the man's word.

"Please show me your baby," she said presently.

The man crossed the room softly and lifted the shawl that now shielded the sleeping faces of mother and child from the light. The candle having burned down gave a final sputter as the wick fell into the bottle and at the sudden warmth the pine branch tree gave out a whiff of fragrance. For a moment they stood side by side looking at the pair by the firelight alone.

The man never moved his eyes from the face of the young mother, and at the sight of the expression in his eyes something leaped to Eleanor's own heart, a feeling that she had believed dead, and sent tears of a delicious shame streaming down her cheeks until she hid her face in the sleeve of her fur coat.

Coming back to the things of the practical present, she said: "In the morning we will come and take Marie up to my mother's until she is well, and then my husband shall give you work. He is the head of a great manufacturing business and employs many draughtsmen. This is for the baby's first Christmas stocking," she added, as she rolled a bill from her purse in a little ball, saying as the man thrust out his hand with a deprecating gesture, "You cannot refuse, it is not for you."

As they walked toward the door, she paused again saying, "My husband is Emery Vance, president of the R. R. Equipment and Supply Co. If you have designed in steel and iron you have probably heard of him."

The man started and when she next looked at him he seemed to have grown taller and the lines of his face were hard and cruel, instead of wan and sad.

"You are the wife of Emery Vance of New York and these are his children?" He fairly hurled the question at her.

"Certainly, we have come to spend Christmas with his parents who live up the Glen," said Eleanor, thinking his astonishment came from finding so well known a man at a distance from his headquarters.

"Tell Mr. Vance, when you ask him to give me work, that Joseph Hess would first like to know the reason why he has been harried from place to place during the last half year, and also the name of the man who really betrayed the trust. Then he may come and offer me work!"

While Eleanor stood with knitted brows, trying to sound the depth of the man's words, the children seized him by either hand, saying softly with a last look toward the bed.

"Yes, Joseph! Of course we will bring father down in the morning to see you and the Christ-baby."

Then the door closed and the iron of a new comprehension entered Eleanor's soul and hurried her toward the reckoning that must be.

CHAPTER XII

A confusion of thoughts crowded Eleanor's mind in the time that passed between the closing of the forge door and the slow arrival of the motor car at the House-in-the-Glen, guided safely through the gate by Eli's lanterns. Try as she might, she could arrive at no conclusion as to the chance happenings of the night either by natural inference or the force of logic. One thing was certain, the presence of Hess and his wife in the old forge had undoubtedly saved her children from death by exhaustion and had also set her own feet in the path she now resolved to follow.

The fear that the children's absence might have unnerved grandmother and grandfather was quickly set aside by the sight, through the window, of the couple sitting in the firelit room. That is, grandfather was in his usual chair, but grandmother, who had been keeping watch at intervals, was moving about restlessly, and the first hint that they received that the little beds were empty was the sight of the children themselves being led in between Eleanor and Will Darrow. The latter acted in the most matter of fact manner, as if the delay, about which he told in a few words, was an every day matter, regrettable of course, but of no moment.

In fact he had no chance to say more for Tommy was crying out, "It is all true! Christ-babies do come now exactly the way you said and we've found him in a stable," ran over to the corner where grandfather sat in the deep shadow of the chimney, and, climbing on his knees, told his wonderful story, a strange thrill of triumph deepening his shrill voice.

Utterly bewildered and doubting whether or not she was hearing and seeing aright, grandmother gave a questioning glance at Eleanor, who nodded gravely in affirmation of what Tommy said, but adding, "They must have some hot milk and go back to bed now and let me tell the rest."

"The tree! Can't we light the tree for one little minute?" begged Tommy.

"Father has not come, Tommy, better wait until morning, it will be still dark enough when you get up," said grandmother. "Eli is getting ready to drive over to the station for him now—the branch road train is due at twelve."

"Then I will go with Eli as far as the inn," said Will Darrow, who, having finished the coffee with which Hopsy had supplied him, came into the sitting-room.

"Yes, Joseph! Of Course We Will Bring Father Down in the Morning to See You and the Christ-baby."

"Why not stay here with us?" said grandmother. "You must be worn out by such an experience."

"I shall need to sleep later in the morning than you people are likely to," he said quietly, and grandmother, noticing that Eleanor did not indorse the invitation, failed to press it.

"Please go to bed at once, or you will have a breakdown," Darrow said to Eleanor, as, after one long look, he hesitated, turned and walked down the hall and into the night without a handclasp or a backward glance.

As the door closed Eleanor returned to the room where the old people were waiting, one on either side of the fire, trying hard to subdue the questioning eagerness of their looks. "I wish that The Stranger was here," she said simply, unconsciously missing the sense of strength that had surrounded her in his presence, her weariness showing in her voice the while.

"It is good for Emery that he has not traveled alone," said grandmother, trying to keep the tremulousness from her voice.

"There was a telegram for me, Tommy said, may I have it?" Eleanor asked. Grandfather took it from his pocketbook and gave it to her.

"It has not been opened," and Eleanor looked from one to the other.

Then grandmother laughed nervously, "The truth is that the boy from the inn repeated the message about Emery's coming at twelve, as he saw it being written, so that there was no need for opening the telegram."

Eleanor cut the top of the envelope with deliberation, and spreading the sheet held it toward the firelight, the oil lamp, unused to such long hours of service, having gradually succumbed.

"Ask them not to wait up for me," she read holding up the paper. "The boy didn't say that," said grandfather, "but we are not very tired."

Lesson for June 27

LESSON TEXT—Hebrews 11:3-10, 17-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.—Hebrews 11:13.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Honor Roll.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Honor Roll.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Heroes of Faith.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Faith Tested and Triumphant.

The great "heroes of the faith" chapter, Hebrews 11, provides an excellent review summary of the messages in Genesis, which we have studied during the last three months. Finally, the entire account, from the Creation to the hope for the future expressed by Joseph, revolves around the word "Faith." The patriarchs had many noble qualities but these were all rooted in the fundamental of all virtues, namely, that faith in God without which "it is impossible to please him" (v. 6).

Our study may well attempt no closer analysis of the text than to note the results of faith as they appear in the verses of our lesson.

I. Understanding (v. 3).

Philosophy and human research frequently bog down in the confused bypaths of unbelief and partial knowledge, but faith cuts right through the clouds and the confusion and "understands" that God is the creator of all things. If you want to know, believe God.

II. Worship (v. 4).

The world abounds with cults and religions of almost unbelievable diversity, and of appalling inefficiency for the needs of man. Only when man does as did Abel, and worships God in accordance with God's holy law will he obtain "witness that he is 'righteous.'"

III. Fellowship (v. 5).

Here again faith triumphs. The societies and associations of men fumble around trying to establish "good will," "fellowship of faiths," and what not, only to fail. But when a man knows God as Enoch did, then he is ready for true fellowship with his brother.

IV. Assurance (v. 6).

When a man trusts God implicitly the uncertainties of life vanish. It is an easier thing to talk about than to do, but, thank God, it can be done. We must believe not only that God is, but by faith we must recognize him "as the rewarder of them that diligently seek him."

V. Salvation (v. 7).

Salved by faith—that is the story of the Christian, even as it was the story of Noah. The ark is typical of Christ. Only in him is there salvation.

VI. Obedience (vv. 8, 9).

The world has a ribald saying, "I don't know where I'm going but I'm on my way," which represents a dangerous philosophy of life. But faith in God enables one to go with Abraham, who "when he was called went out, not knowing whither he went." He knew God and that was enough to call forth unquestioning obedience.

VII. Vision (v. 10).

Men of vision—that's what we need, we are told. Well, then we need men of faith who can see the unseen, who can see "a city which hath foundations" even in the midst of the wilderness.

In the fields both of secular and spiritual achievement vision has marched before victory. Carey, Judson, Livingstone, every great missionary, dreamed dreams and saw visions before they achieved lasting victories in distant lands.

VIII. Resurrection (vv. 17-19).

God gave a promise and the only means of fulfilling that promise was about to be taken away, but Abraham did not hesitate for he believed that God was able and ready to raise the dead if necessary to fulfill his promise. Have all our prospects been dashed to the ground? Is everything hopeless, humanly speaking? God is both willing and able to make all things work together for good and for his glory.

IX. Hope (vv. 20-22).

The forward look—that is the look of faith. Isaac's blessing concerned "things to come." Jacob, too weak to stand alone, leaned on his staff and worshipped, and passed on the covenant blessing. Joseph gave a commandment concerning his body, looking forward to God's fulfillment of the promise.

Christian hope is not a wishful desire that an unbelievable thing may somehow occur. That is an unbelievable use of the word "hope." To a child of God hope means a well-grounded assurance that God will keep his word.

Right and Wrong
Conscience is that faculty which perceives right and wrong in actions, approves or disapproves them, anticipates their consequences under the moral administration of God, and is thus either the cause of peace or of disquietude of mind.

Opportunities

There are people who would do great acts, but because they wait for great opportunities, life passes, and the acts of love are not done at all.—F. W. Robertson.

In as Much as Young Man Qualified for Job, He Got It

"Well," inquired the man in the swivel chair as the seventy-fourth applicant of the day strode into his office, "have you had a thorough education in art?"
"Yes, sir," answered the young applicant confidently, "I have."
"Studied in Europe?"
"Yes, four years at the Beaux Arts."
"And you're sure you could guide visitors through this place competently?"
"Yes, I am sure."
"Well, we shall see. What were the three Greek orders?"
"Ionic, Corinthian and Doric."
"Good! What are the outstanding features of Gothic architecture?"

"Pointed" arches, vertical accent, skeletal framework with small wall space and large windows. This contrasts with the Romanesque where—
"Whoa. Whoa. That's enough. And you'd be able to explain reproductions of great painters to inquiring visitors?"
"Certainly. The perspective of Fabiano, the power and religious fervor of Masaccio, the splendid chiaroscuro of Leonardo, the relentless realism of Rembrandt, the brilliant color tones of Veronese, born 1528, died—"
"You'll do. Now go and get your overalls on," concluded the proprietor of the Dugal Filling Station, Inc., "and give that customer out there a few gallons of gas." — Parke Cummings, in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

To the Point

Even a good resolution must have backbone to keep it from getting wobbly.

People who want more than they need have the minds of children.

A skeptic is a fellow who deliberately walks under a ladder just to see if he can change his luck.

Too many men never do a charitable act unless there is somebody around to applaud.

Gum-dipped cords
PROVIDE THE EXTRA MARGIN
OF SAFETY ON THE SPEEDWAY
OR THE HIGHWAY

THOUSANDS said that tires could not stand the terrific grind. They said cars had been built with much greater speed, turns in the track had been repaved with granite-like surface, yet Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires setting a new record of 113.58 miles per hour on one of the hottest days in the history of the Indianapolis track.

Think of the terrific impact on these tires as the cars roared into the treacherous turns and out again. Tons of force straining, pulling, and twisting inside the tire, yet not one cord loosened, not one tread separated from the cord body—all because Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process, successfully counteracted the internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life.

You will never drive your car at these record-breaking speeds, but for the safety of yourself and family you need the safest, strongest and most dependable tires. See your nearby Firestone Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—the safest tires that money can buy.

Big Ones Are Biting This Fishing Season

Two fine fish such as these are enough to account for a happy smile on any fisherman's face. CAP AND BELLS

PROUD FATHER

Two parsons were having lunch at a farm during the progress of certain anniversary celebrations. The farmer's wife cooked a couple of chickens, saying that the family could dine on the remains after the visitors had gone. But the hungry parsons wolfed the chickens bare. Later the farmer was conducting his guests round the farm, when an old rooster commenced to crow and lib. "Seems mighty proud of himself," said one of the guests. "No wonder," growled the farmer, "he's got two sons in the ministry."—Dramatic News.

AROUND the HOUSE Items of Interest to the Housewife

Cleaning Silver.—Moist salt will remove egg tarnish from silver.

Clearing the Atmosphere.—Burn a few drops of vinegar on a hot shovel for a quick way of clearing the smell of stale smoke out of a room.

Washing Linoleum.—Oilcloth and linoleum will dry with a brighter finish if a lump of sugar is dissolved in the scrubbing water.

Removing Spots From Tile.—Spots can be removed from the tile bathroom floor by rubbing with a cloth moistened with kerosene and then polishing with one moistened with paraffin.

Chilling Canned Fruits.—Before placing canned fruits in the refrigerator to chill remove the paper label which acts as an insulator.

Frying Doughnuts.—To keep doughnuts from absorbing too much of the fat in which they are fried put a drop or two of vinegar in the dough when mixing the ingredients.

Barbecued Ham.—Fry the required number of thin ham slices from a left-over boiled ham. Arrange them in a serving dish, and pour the following sauce over them; add to the ham fat in the frying pan a teaspoonful of made mustard, half a teaspoonful sugar, three tablespoonsful vinegar and a tablespoonful of red currant jelly. Warm all the ingredients up together, sprinkle with paprika (optional) and pour over the ham.

Rice, Scrambled Eggs, Cheese.—Have ready a border of rice (boiled) in a dish. Make some scrambled eggs to which cheese has been added. Place the mixture in the center of the dish and sprinkle a little chopped parsley over the top. Serve piping hot.

Washing Woolens.—Rinse woolens in warm water to which a little olive oil has been added. This helps to keep them soft.

Quick Mayonnaise.—The yellow part of an egg is thoroughly beaten up with a teaspoonful vinegar. Add some salt and pepper. Pour oil over it and whip the mixture thoroughly. Then add two dessertspoons of vinegar and one tablespoon boiling water.

Hot Weather is Here—Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel actions sluggish or insufficient.

These are some of the more common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. FARMERS' COLUMN

Louisville Fruit & Vegetable Market

The importance of Louisville as a wholesale fruit and vegetable market is emphasized in a bulletin reporting on a study made by the agricultural experiment station of the university of Kentucky. Between 11,000 and 12,000 carloads are handled on the market yearly. Fruits and vegetables are shipped into Louisville from every important producing area in this country as well as from some foreign countries.

The Louisville market serves southern Indiana and all of Kentucky except the extreme western and eastern counties and northeastern counties.

The growth of trucking has helped the Louisville market, the bulletin points out, because of the city's location with respect to markets in northern and southern states. Located on north-south arterial highways and midway between important northern and southern markets, Louisville is a convenient point for the exchange of produce.

Thus the city has become the terminus for fleets of trucks operating from the northern producing areas and from the southern producing areas. It is noted that "this situation provides opportunities that probably did not hitherto exist for the sale of locally grown fruits and vegetables, and lays the foundation for a large wholesale fruit and vegetable market which will not only serve the city of Louisville but will supply a much larger trade territory than is reached at the present time."

The study was made at the request of the Jefferson county Farm Bureau.

Special Commissioner's Sale

WAYNE UNITED GAS COMPANYADVERTISEMENT OF SALE

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to a decree of sale (hereinafter called the Decree of Sale) entered by the Circuit Court of Morgan County, Kentucky (hereinafter called the Kentucky Court), on the 28th day of June, 1937, in a certain cause pending in said court entitled "The Chase National Bank of the City of New York and Paul C. Beardslee, as Trustees under the first mortgage dated June 1, 1929, of Wayne United Gas Company vs. Wayne United Gas Company, a corporation, et al., in chancery, No. 492," and pursuant also to a certain decree of sale entered by the Circuit Court of Kanawha County, West Virginia, on the 13th day of July, 1934, in the chancery cause of John B. Bell et al. vs. Wayne United Gas Company et al., in chancery, No. 11,663 (hereinafter called the West Virginia Decree of Sale), and a supplemental decree of sale entered by said last named court on the 10th day of August, 1936, in the same cause, which said West Virginia Decree of Sale and supplemental decree of sale were ratified, approved, confirmed, and adopted by the said Decree of Sale entered by the Kentucky Court at its March term, 1937, as aforesaid, the undersigned J. Henry Cole, appointed Special Commissioner in and by the Decree of Sale, will offer and sell at public auction to the highest bidder or bidders at the front door of the courthouse of said Morgan County in the City of West Liberty, State of Kentucky, on the 28th day of June, 1937, at one o'clock P. M., central standard time, the Kentucky property directed by the Decree of Sale to be sold.

A brief description of the property to be sold is as follows (the numbering and lettering of the subdivisions and paragraphs in the following description of the property to be sold are those of Lot Two in Article 4 of the West Virginia Decree of Sale):

Lot Two

Nickell; on the east by the lands of Leonard Stamper; on the south by the lands of Joe Stamper and B. Amyx and Walker Haney; and on the west by the lands of J. C. Havens' heirs, John Fugate, and J. A. Oldfield, containing three hundred (300) acres, more or less, which lease is of record in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of Morgan County, Kentucky, in Lease Book 29, page 210, and which lease was assigned by said Wm. O. Ziebold to the Company by deed and assignment dated the 21st day of October, 1929, of record in said County Court Clerk's office in Lease Book 29, page 215.

(d) All those certain oil and gas leases and the leasehold estates thereby created which were made and executed to William O. Ziebold, as lessee, by the various lessors listed on pages 56 to 58, inclusive, of said West Virginia Decree of Sale, being items numbers 1 to 13, inclusive, purporting to cover approximately 930 acres, which leases and property were transferred to Wayne United Gas Company by said William O. Ziebold and wife by deed and assignment dated the 6th day of July, 1929, of record in the County Clerk's office of said Morgan County in Book 56, pages 408-411.

(e) That certain oil and gas lease and the leasehold estate thereby created, dated the 6th day of September, 1929, which was made and executed by D. S. Jackson to the Company, as lessee, covering lands situate on the waters of Grassy Creek, bounded on the north by the lands of J. A. Oldfield and John Fugate; on the east by the lands of Hannah Havens; on the south by the lands of W. M. Pack and Maggie Pieratt; and on the west by the lands of Maggie Pieratt, Bonnie Oldfield, and Bee Rose, containing three hundred (300) acres, more or less, which lease is of record in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of Morgan County, Kentucky, in Lease Book 29, page 177.

(f) That certain oil and gas lease and the leasehold estate thereby created, dated the 20th day of November, 1931, which was made and executed by E. H. Oldfield, Guardian, to the Company, as lessee, covering lands situate on the waters of Grassy Creek, bounded on the east by the lands of J. A. Oldfield; on the north by the lands of J. A. Oldfield; on the south by the lands of D. S. Jackson; and on the west by the lands of James Little, containing one hundred (100) acres, more or less, which lease is of record in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of Morgan County, Kentucky, in Lease Book 30, page 595.

(2) All the oil and gas and all other minerals in, on, and under those two certain tracts or parcels of land situate in said Morgan County, Kentucky, which are designated, respectively, as "First Tract" and "Second Tract," and described by metes and bounds on pages 59 and 60 of said West Virginia Decree of Sale, said tracts containing in the aggregate approximately 399.2 acres.

(3) That certain lease and the leasehold estate thereby created, dated the 20th day of December, 1930, which was made and executed by John H. Roe and Eliza Roe, his wife, to the Company, as lessee, covering a parcel of land containing three (3) acres, more or less, situate on the waters of Grassy Creek, Morgan County, Kentucky, for a period of ten (10) years, as a compressor station site, which lease is of record in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of Morgan County, Kentucky, in Lease Book 38, page 121, said parcel being bounded as follows:

On the north by the lands of Chalmer Wilson;

On the east by the lands of J. R. Ratliff;

On the south by the lands of J. H. Roe;

On the west by the lands of J. H. Roe.

(4) All of the appurtenances of every kind and character belonging to any and all of the foregoing property in this Lot Two described, including all of the oil and gas wells thereon, and all casing, tubing, tanks, machinery, meters, and all equipment and appliances of every kind and character, in, on, or connected with said wells and/or used or for use in connection with the operation of said premises for gas, oil, and gasoline, belonging to the Company, except personal property of the Company of the character expressly excepted from the lien of the First Mortgage on page 73 thereof.

(5) All rights of way, easements, and privileges owned and held by the Company on, over, and across lands situate and lying in Morgan County, Kentucky, used or for use in the maintenance and operation of its various pipe lines, and for ingress and egress, and for all other purposes.

(6) The Company's entire system of pipe lines, equipment, and appliances used or for use in connection with the gathering and transmission of its gas from its various wells in said county, except personal property of the Company of the character expressly excepted from the lien of the First Mortgage on page 73 thereof.

(7) Also all natural gas and oil wells, plants, buildings, refineries, improvements, pipes and pipe lines, mains, tanks, holders, cranes, conveyors, derricks, motors, engines, drills, rigs, casing, tubing, valves, compressors, flow tanks, field tanks, conduits, dams, reservoirs, power plants, storerooms, pumps, pumping machinery, pumping stations, loading racks, fixtures, boilers, machinery, railroad tracks, meters, gauges, tools, implements, apparatus, appliances, and all other machinery, fixtures, equipment, accessories, and property of every description owned by the Company, and which are fixtures, attached or appertaining to the premises and properties hereinbefore in Lot Two described or any part thereof; and all appurtenances, hereditaments, easements, privileges, franchises, and rights of every nature located on or appurtenant to or used in the operation of or in connection with any of the property hereinbefore in Lot Two described; and all interest of the Company in any premises covered by any of the deeds, leases, or rights of way hereinbefore in Lot Two described. The effect of these general words of description shall not be deemed to be lessened or impaired by any specific descriptions hereinabove contained; but nothing in this paragraph (7) contained shall be deemed to refer to personal property of the Company of the character expressly excepted from the lien of the First Mortgage on page 73 thereof.

(8) All other property situated in the State of Kentucky, real, personal, or mixed, owned by or held for the Company, or acquired or taken possession of by the Ancillary Receiver and not disposed of, except personal property of the Company of the character expressly excepted from the lien of the First Mortgage on page 73 thereof; but including all interest of Ford V-8 pickup truck, motor number 2185372, now held by said Ancillary Receiver.

Article VI of the Decree of Sale requires the Ancillary Receiver to file with the Clerk of the Kentucky Court, at least five and not more than fifteen days prior to the above mentioned date of sale, a statement showing, among other things, the amount of all unpaid taxes and assessments levied or assessed on the property to be sold; the amounts estimated by the Ancillary Receiver to be owing in respect of liabilities which the purchaser of the property is required to assume in accordance with Article V of said Decree of Sale; all executory leases and contracts entered into or affirmed and adopted by the Ancillary Receiver in respect of said property; and the amount of said property accounts receivable in his hands. It is provided in the Decree of Sale that such statement shall be advisory only and that nothing contained therein or omitted therefrom shall be construed as a warranty or otherwise affecting the rights or liabilities of any of the parties in interest.

For a more particular description of the property to be sold, and for fuller particulars of the terms and conditions of the sale, and before purchasers are referred to the Decree of Sale, to the West Virginia Decree of Sale, to the records in the above mentioned causes, to the statement of the Ancillary Receiver to be filed as aforesaid, and to the First Mortgage of Wayne United Gas Company as recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of said Morgan County in Deed Book 56, at pages 415 to 504, inclusive, and in Chattel Mortgage Book 1, at pages 24-25, of said Mortgage Book 1, at pages 24-25, of Article III of the West Virginia Decree of Sale.

Said property may be inspected by intending bidders subject to reasonable regulations by the Ancillary Receiver.

As more fully provided in the Decree of Sale:

I. The Special Commissioner may adjourn the sale from time to time and any future day and hour by oral announcement made personally, at the time and place appointed for the sale or for the adjourned sale, and without further notice or publication, may proceed with the sale on any day to which the same may have been so adjourned. Notice of any such adjournment will be posted at the front door of said courthouse.

II. Any person (whether or not a party to the above mentioned cause, and whether or not the holder of bonds—hereinafter called the First Mortgage Bonds—outstanding under the First Mortgage) may, subject to the provisions of the Decree of Sale, purchase in his own right at any such sale.

III. (1) The property to be sold will be sold subject to the prior liens of taxes and assessments lawfully levied or assessed thereon, in each case to the extent that said taxes and assessments shall not have been paid prior to the time of the delivery of possession to the purchaser as in the Decree of Sale provided.

(2) The purchaser or purchasers shall, in addition to the amount bid and as part of the purchase price for the property purchased, pay and discharge the liabilities required by Article V of the Decree of Sale and by paragraph 2 of Article X of the West Virginia Decree of Sale to be paid by the purchaser or purchasers of such property.

IV. (1) The property to be sold will be offered for sale as a single parcel and the highest bid received therefor will be accepted, subject, however, to acceptance or rejection by the Kentucky court as in Article IV of the Decree of Sale provided.

(2) In case any bid in writing shall be made at said sale for any separate part or parcel of the property herein described, such bid shall be noted and reported to the Court, and before closing the sale the Special Commissioner will offer for sale the remaining property or properties after deducting the part or parts so bid for, and will likewise note and report to the Court the highest bid received for such residue.

V. (1) Upon confirmation by the Kentucky Court of any sale made hereunder, the purchaser shall execute and deliver to the Special Commissioner a sale bond or bonds for the amount bid for the property sold to such purchaser, with good surety, to be approved by the Special Commissioner dated as of the date of such sale and payable to the Special Commissioner six (6) months from the date thereof with interest from date at six per centum (6%) per annum until paid. The purchaser shall be entitled to anticipate the payment of all or any part of said sale bond or bonds.

(2) Upon the expiration of the six (6) months period following the date of any such sale, or sooner if the purchaser shall elect to anticipate payment as aforesaid, the purchaser shall make such payment or payments in cash on account of the purchase price as the Kentucky Court may in the order confirming sale, or from time to time, direct, and shall be entitled either to pay the balance of his bid in cash or to satisfy or make good such balance in whole or in part by turning in to the Special Commissioner to be credited at their distributive value as fixed by said Court, First Mortgage bonds of Wayne United Gas Company in bearing form entitled to payment out of the proceeds of sale of the Kentucky property; or by turning in to the Special Commissioner for credit at their face value any proper assignment or assignments of the claim or claims of the West Virginia Receiver, Ross B. Thomas and Herman Bennett, for moneys advanced by them to the Ancillary Receiver, which claims are superior in priority to the claims of the holders of the First Mortgage bonds.

(3) The term "in bearing form," whenever used herein with reference to First Mortgage bonds, shall include First Mortgage bonds expressed to be payable to bearer and registered First Mortgage bonds accompanied by assignments in blank duly executed.

(4) Any payment in cash to be made to the Special Commissioner may be made by the delivery of a certified check drawn on a bank or trust company acceptable to the Special Commissioner and made or endorsed payable to his order.

(5) In lieu of receiving First Mortgage bonds as permitted by the Decree of Sale to be turned in to the Special Commissioner, said Special

Commissioner may receive either (a) a certificate or certificates of any bank or trust company acceptable to the Special Commissioner which states that such bank or trust company holds first mortgage bonds subject to the order of a person therein named, and which is accompanied by an assignment duly executed by such person to the order of the Special Commissioner or in blank; or (b) a certificate or certificates of any bank or trust company acceptable to the Special Commissioner which states that such bank or trust company holds First Mortgage bonds subject to the order of the Special Commissioner.

(6) Any bidder whose bid is accepted by the Special Commissioner may assign, transfer, and set over his bid in whole or in part, and all or any part of his rights or interests under the Decree of Sale as such bidder.

(7) If any purchaser before delivery of deed or instrument of conveyance for the property purchased by him, shall elect to abandon any item or part of the property so purchased without abatement of the purchase price, and shall so notify the Special Commissioner in writing, such item of property shall be omitted from such deed or instrument of conveyance and the same shall thereupon be excluded from the sale made hereunder.

VI. On July 2nd, 1937, or in the event that the sale hereunder shall be adjourned, on the first Saturday after any such adjourned sale, or if that Saturday be a legal holiday, then on the next succeeding day not a legal holiday, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, central standard time, in the court room of the Kentucky Court at Grayson, in the County of Carter, State of Kentucky, the Special Commissioner will report the result of the sale to the Kentucky Court for a hearing thereon, and for such orders, directions, or decrees relative to confirming or not confirming the sale or any part thereof, or to accepting or rejecting any bid or bids which may have been made at such sale, or to ordering a resale, or for such other action in the premises as may be proper. The above mentioned cause has been by the Decree of Sale set for further hearing before the Kentucky Court at the time and place of making such report, and the Kentucky Court has reserved the right at that time to postpone or adjourn such hearing. No other or further notice of such hearing will be given.

VII. All matters not determined in the Decree of Sale are reserved by the Kentucky Court for future determination.

Dated June 7, 1937.

J. HENRY COLE,

Special Commissioner,

Morgan Circuit Court.

FORD V-8 POWER

will do the job at lower costs than ever!

WITH V-8 engines in two sizes, the Ford V-8 Truck offers new efficiency in handling the work—new economy when you figure the costs.

If yours is a job of heavy hauling, you can handle it faster, easier and at less cost with the improved 85 H. P. Ford V-8 truck engine.

For light jobs, the 60 H. P. Ford V-8 engine gives splendid performance with gasoline economy running many extra miles to the gallon.

With either engine you get an added economy which is available only to Ford V-8 owners. For the Ford Engine Exchange Plan allows an old engine in any Ford V-8 unit to be replaced with a factory-reconditioned engine—for much less than the cost of an ordinary engine overhaul!

In addition, Ford dealers offer a wide variety of body types built to Ford's own standards of lasting quality. Discuss your hauling needs with your Ford dealer today. Let him help you select the chassis, engine and body best suited to handle your loads. Then, let an "on-the-job" test show you how much better and at how much less cost you can do your hauling with modern V-8 power.

Monroe (Mich.) Women Defended Their Husbands' Right to Strike.

VIOLENCE and threats continued to break forth on the strike front as the battle between certain industries, particularly steel, and John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization became more and more tense. Nine men were shot and wounded at Anderson, Ind., as Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, stopped in the city to address a mass meeting. The wounded men, non-members of the union, claimed a member had opened fire upon them with a shotgun from a window in Union hall after an exchange of insults. Union members charged attempts had been made to injure the amplifying apparatus which was to carry Martin's words to the throng. Martin was en route to Monroe, Mich., where 200 World War veterans had been deputized to prevent picketing of the Newton steel plant, controlled by Republic Steel, whose plants have borne the brunt of the C. I. O. campaigns in the last few weeks. The vigilantes, armed with shot-guns, rifles, revolvers and machine guns, were determined that the local Steel Workers Organizing Committee was not going to make good its threat to close the Newton plant with a mob of thousands of C. I. O. picketers from Detroit.

The Monroe deputies broke up a picket line and re-opened the plant to loyal employees; after that the local C. I. O. union made arrangements to import pickets from outside the city. Despite the impending trouble a battalion of Michigan national guardsmen, ordered to the scene by Gov. Frank Murphy, disbanded, leaving the task of maintaining the peace to the regular police force and deputies.

At the South Chicago plants of Youngstown and Inland 4,000 pickets were massed by C. I. O. leaders who anticipated that attempts would be made by independent unions to break through the lines keeping the plants closed. At Youngstown, Ohio, the city council thought it detected storm clouds of new strike violence and voted to allow Mayor Lionel Evans to hire and equip what additional emergency police he thought would be necessary. Labor unions in sympathy with C. I. O. threatened to retaliate by declaring a city-wide "labor holiday" or general strike. Unions in Canton, Ohio, did likewise.

CIO Starts at Bottom

JOHN L. LEWIS aimed another blow at steel through the United Mine Workers, of which he is president. Workers in the captive mines (mines operated by an individual steel concern which is the sole user of the coal brought to the surface) in Pennsylvania walked out of the shafts and joined the steel picket lines. The purpose was to cripple further the steel plants now shut down or operating under difficulties while picketed; the immediate objective was the closing of the Cambria plant at Bethlehem Steel. The effectiveness of the walkout was a matter for dispute; plant officials claimed all departments were in operation.

Court Plan Walloped

THE senate judiciary committee made short work of President Roosevelt's Supreme court packing plan. Its report, in summary: "We recommend the rejection of this bill as a needless, futile, and utterly dangerous abandonment of constitutional principle."

"It was presented to the congress in a most intricate form and for reasons that obscured its real purpose."

"It would not banish age from the bench nor abolish divided decisions."

"It would not affect the power of any court to hold laws unconstitutional, nor withdraw from any judge the authority to issue injunctions."

"It would not reduce the expense of litigation nor speed the decision of cases."

"It is a proposal without precedent and without justification."

"It would subjugate the courts to the will of congress and the President and thereby destroy the independence of the judiciary, the only certain shield of individual rights."

"It contains the germ of a system of centralized administration of law that would enable an executive so minded to send his judges into every judicial district in the land to sit in judgment on controversies between government and citizens."

"It points the way to the evasion of the Constitution and establishes the method whereby the people may be deprived of their right to pass upon all amendments of the fundamental law."

"It stands now before the country, acknowledged by its proponents as a plan to force judicial interpretation of the Constitution, a proposal that violates every sacred tradition of American democracy."

"Under the form of the Constitution it seeks to do that which is unconstitutional."

"Its ultimate operation would be to make this government one of men rather than one of law, and its practical operation would be to make the Constitution what the executive or legislative branches of the government choose to say it is—an interpretation to be changed with each change of administration."

"It is a measure which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America."

Harry Loses 1st Round

DESPITE the pleas of Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, the full senate appropriation committee approved the Byrnes amendment to the relief bill, 13 to 10. The amendment to the $1,500,000,000 bill requires local governments to pay at least 40 per cent of the cost of all WPA projects, or else sign a kind of civic "pauper's oath." The South Carolina senator's amendment was seen as further evidence of the break between the administration and the conservative Democrats. The South, especially, has been voicing its insistence upon states' rights as opposed to all-powerful central government as advocated by the New Deal, and the relief bill amendment was seen as a case in point. Hopkins had argued that compelling states to contribute 40 per cent of the cost of WPA projects would virtually eliminate such federal projects in the South. It was believed that this may be what the southern senators want; they claim that the payment of $12 a week to negroes cut down their labor pool and they want to get the negro workers back into the cotton fields.

Capital on the Move

THE Spanish loyalist government, after another terrific bombing of the city by insurgent airplanes of the German Junkers and Heinkel types, decided to move the capital from Bilbao to Santander, but to defend Bilbao to the death. The Basque battalions reorganized for a last ditch stand to protect the broken "iron ring" of the city's defenses from the forces of General Francisco Franco. The latter, it was admitted, already had penetrated the first line of fortifications near Fica and Larrabezua, five miles to the east. Several persons were killed and many houses destroyed by the rebel bombs and machine guns. Meanwhile the loyalists were claiming important advances along the Cordoba front.

Patrolling Powers Agree

ABOUT the same time, the diplomats of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany were signing an agreement which brought the latter two back into the International Non-Intervention committee. It has to be accepted by both factions in the Spanish fight before becoming effective. The understanding is that the two Spanish powers will be requested to extend the safety zones in Spanish ports and pledge to do their best to prevent incidents. It was agreed that each commander of the patrolling powers should have the right to immediate self defense if he were attacked, but that he must not begin any retaliation before the four powers have had an opportunity to confer and decide what action is best.

Great satisfaction over the outcome of the conference was indicated in Rome, with the newspapers expressing a friendlier attitude toward Great Britain than they had in weeks. Chief trouble was that until both Spanish forces agree, the Spanish coast remained open to gun-runners.

We're in the Money!

IF YOU don't think things are picking up, maybe the United States Department of Commerce can convince you. It has just reported the national income for 1936 reached a total of $62,056,000,000, and officials predicted that the figure for 1937 would reach $70,000,000,000. The all-time high was $78,632,000,000 in the dizzy boom year of 1929, and the all-time low $44,940,000,000 in 1933.

The department's report said that since 1933 the national income has risen more swiftly than prices and that the real purchasing power of individuals was much larger. Income, it said, increased 38 per cent from 1933 to 1936, while the cost of living advanced 8 per cent. The per capita income of employees last year was listed at $1,244, which was $58 more than in the preceding year and 88.4 per cent of the figure for 1929.

Reds Rub Out 8

EIGHT Soviet Russian generals, including Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky, former vice commissar of defense, learned the wrath of the Kremlin. Condemned for treason, they were led before a firing squad and killed, by order of the military tribunal of the Soviet supreme court. The court only the day before declared them guilty of conspiring with the military intelligence service of an "unfriendly" foreign power. Although the "unfriendly" power was never named by officials, correspondents in Moscow declared indications were unmistakable that Red leaders believe this power was Nazi Germany.

Most of the Russian capital was virtually certain that the eight, who had been denied appeal, had been put to death for an ambitious plot to rob the Soviet of its western provinces and turn them over to Germany.

U. S. A. for Rebel Parson

REV. R. ANDERSON JARDINE, plucky little minister who defied the archbishop of Canterbury and endeared himself to millions by his famous "Duke of Windsor and Wallis Warfield" religious marriage ceremony of the Church of England despite the fact that the church forbade it, has quit his job. The "poor man's parson" whose surprise move skyrocketed him from obscurity to international fame resigned as vicar of St. Paul's church in Darlington, England. Although he had returned from France, where he married modern history's most romantic figures, only a few days before, he declared his latest act had "nothing to do with events which have taken place lately." The London Daily Mirror reported that the former vicar plans a two-month vacation lecturing and preaching in the United States and will visit an uncle, Sen. W. D. Rogers, in Coronado, Calif.

They DO Come Back

FOUR years ago a husky young professional golfer named Ralph Guldahl stood on the final green of the United States National Open championship golf tournament, needing to sink an easy four-foot putt to tie Johnny Goodman for the title. He missed, and quit golf to sell automobiles.

Last year his love of the game overtook him and he decided upon one more try. He came back with a vengeance, cleaning up most of the money in the winter tournaments. He climaxed his return to form by winning golf's most coveted title, that of national open champion, at Oakland Hills country club, Birmingham, Mich., in the 1937 meet just closed. His score of 281 for 72 holes was an all-time record for open competition.

Social Justice for Ford

FATHER COUGHLIN, Detroit's radio priest, refused to confirm or deny that he was entering the field of labor organization by sponsoring the new union which has sprung up at the Ford plant in opposition to C. I. O. efforts. The union is called the Ford Workers' Council for Social Justice, and incorporates the principles of Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice. U. A. W. leaders, also attempting to organize the 90,000 men in the River Rouge plant, denounced the newcomer as a "company union."

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL

By Carter Field
FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington. — There is more to the unbusiness of certain high labor officials to government fixing of minimum wages than is being made known. What some of them think about it down in their hearts would not arouse any enthusiasm if stated in plain English. It would not be good politics, and in politics a man who has become a labor leader is apt to know his way around.

One objection is stated frankly. They are afraid that if the government fixes a minimum wage it will end to become the standard wage. A good deal of publicity has been given to this. But most of it is just talk. A good many workers suspect that the socialist payroll taxes are more menacing to pay advances than any governmental edict that not less than a certain amount can be paid for a definite job in a definite place.

Every once in a while there is a hint that the fixing of wages is a matter which should be left to collective bargaining. That comes pretty close to being the heart of the real objection. The same danger was realized by labor leaders during the NRA regime. Obviously if the government should eventually control all working conditions, particularly hours and wages, the importance of union labor leaders would shrink considerably. There might even come a time when workers would doubt the wisdom of having highly paid union officials with liberal expense accounts. The government would be doing the job that the unions set out to do and have been doing.

There was a small contingent of the original brain trust which saw this very clearly, and welcomed the day when it would mature. They wanted all power lodged in the federal government. This line of thought never triumphed. The time was not ripe for it.

Moreover the election was approaching and the administration did not know then that it could have been re-elected even if all the labor unions had been just as strongly opposed to it as they were in favor of it.

See Danger There

But the dangerous germ of thought is still there. The administration intends to march on its efforts to straighten out the waving up and down curve of business booms and depressions. It intends to control business more and more, especially in the matter of plant expansions.

With the regulation of wages and hours, not a part of the program for the present session of congress, the regulation of business comes closer. Sooner or later may come another move. It has not even been hinted, so far, but as a matter of fact it has lots of advocates, some of them inside the New Deal breast-works.

For if governmental control is to be exercised over business in order to avoid hectic booms and gloomy depressions—with the idea being to keep the curve of prosperity in a straight line, with no ups and downs—it will become important not to have cessations of work due to labor troubles. They are apt to play hob not only with production—bearing in mind that the goal of the New Deal is to have production geared down to the capacity of the market to consume—but with government revenues.

The millions of taxes paid to the federal government out of the annual profits of the steel corporation, for example, and out of personal incomes derived from dividends from that company, might conceivably disappear entirely for one year due to strikes which might turn the black ink figures of that company into red.

All of which has labor leaders a little perturbed as they see the start made on government regulation of wages.

Ohio in Congress

The Ohio delegation is an interesting example of what is happening to the President on the Supreme court enlargement bill, and on insurgency in general. It is typical of most of the delegations from states which are normally Republican, and at present have heavy Democratic majorities in the Capitol Hill contingents.

Ohio now has 22 Democrats and only 2 Republicans in the house, although if there is such a thing any more as a "normal" majority the Buckeye state should have about 200,000 Republicans.

A month ago a confidential poll was taken of these 22 Ohio Democrats. It showed 13 of them were against the President on the Supreme court issue, and only 9 with him. But just a few days ago the 22 Democrats were again polled, and this time there were 15 against the President and only 7 for him!

This does not mean that the two gentlemen who originally favored the President and later decided they would have to vote against him, had changed their own opinions about the merits or demerits of the bill. It means that they had changed their minds about what was the safer thing for them to do.

The point is that most of the Ohio Democrats have discovered, to their own satisfaction, that a majority of the voters in their districts are against the court packing bill; but that a majority of the Democrats in their district are for the President.

Thus they are between the devil and the deep blue sea. If they vote against the President, they are likely to be knocked off in the primaries by a New Dealer who charges them with having betrayed the cause of liberalism, fought our leader, and generally acted in a traitorous fashion. This, especially as the Farley machine is apt to be very efficient in the primaries.

Would Hurt Chances

But if they vote for the President on the court bill, then their chances in the general election are very poor indeed. Their danger there is that the general sentiment in the entire district, among Republicans as well as Democrats, would beat them.

If Roosevelt himself were running in 1938 the situation would be different. The President, they still believe firmly, is simply magical as a vote getter. People would in many instances vote the straight ticket, and thus the Democratic candidates for congress would be pulled through in most of the districts the President carried.

But the President is not running. So they are frightened. They want to keep their $10,000 jobs. They like the perquisites, the feeling of importance. Their wives like the social life of the capital. They do not want to be retired. Most of them, as a matter of fact, could not earn anything like so much money at home.

So they are doing their best to avoid either danger. They do not want this measure voted on in the house, and just because so many of them do not want it voted on, it probably will not be.

They want the bill to stay in the senate until after the election next year, or until present interest in it dies away.

But if they do have to vote against the President, the same political logic will lead them to vote for a great many more New Deal measures than perhaps they otherwise would. It would not do to put themselves forward as too strongly against the President. That is not good politics. So the President may be triumphant after all!

To Rejuvenate G. O. P.

There is a movement on to rejuvenate the Republican party. So far the move is rather shrouded in mystery, but a man very prominent in the last campaign until he was virtually shelved by Chairman John D. M. Hamilton was in Washington a few days ago explaining to some senators he knew what he was trying to do in aiding the move.

The main point of the idea, it seems, is to organize a large number of huge Republican clubs, starting in the big cities. When campaign time approaches the idea would be for the young Republicans in these clubs to work together, in the various congressional districts and also in the states, for district state at large delegates to the Republican National convention.

Assuming success in this, the idea then would be for them to take over control of the G. O. P. organization at that time, and make it a live force in the country once more.

There is at least one shrewd idea in the plan, however impractical it may appear to be. This is that the backers are in agreement that they must not try to foist any choice they may develop as to the candidate for the presidency.

Not Like Old Days

It's very different from the good old days, when there were bosses that were bosses. It is just a little bit interesting, since the death of the last of them, J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, a few weeks back, that some of the young Republicans are wishing the party had a few leaders who had the brains and strategy of the old group headed by Boies Penrose, even if they do think the new party ought to be a little more liberal.

There seems to be no personalities particularly in the new movement, which is just as well at this stage, but there are quite a few gentlemen whose names are anathema. Head and front of this list is Herbert C. Hoover. A close runner-up, for no other reason apparently than that his name is considered bad medicine politically, is Ogden L. Mills of New York. Hoover's Secretary of the Treasury and generally branded as an arch conservative.

It goes without saying that John D. M. Hamilton does not rate very highly with the organizers of this movement. If he did they would not be planning so comprehensive a campaign to steal the organization. If they could influence Hamilton to do what they want, the movement would not be necessary. Or, to put it another way, Hamilton would be leading it.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Summer Influenza.
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—In this favored land we are now starting to celebrate the customary seasonal rite of having our summer influenza.

Summer influenza is distinguished from winter influenza by the fact that the former does not set in until September, thereby providing intervals for spring and fall to slip in between.

The symptoms remain practically the same. The eyes water copiously, but the nose runs second. The head stops up thoroughly, thus providing proof of the fallacy of the old adage—al sinis fall in dry weather. The patient barks like a trained seal, but the difference here is that the seal stops barking if you toss him a hunk of raw fish.

One could go on at length, but it's difficult to continue a writing job when you're using a nasal inhalant to punctuate with and have a taste in your mouth like moth balls smothered in creosote dressing.

The Art of Cussing.

MY OLD chum Burgess Johnson, once an editor but now a college professor, tells a credulous bunch of advertising men that Mark Twain was the champion all-time all-American cussor—could cuss five solid minutes without repeating himself.

Pardon me, Burgess, but Mark Twain never did any such thing. Once I heard him at his out-cussing best—denouncing a publisher who had offended him. He swore for five minutes all right, but over and over again he used the same few familiar oaths which the English-speaking race always have used. He didn't introduce a new or an original one.

I studied the art of cussing, both by note and by ear, under such gifted masters of profanity as southern steamboat mates, New York newspaper men, London cab drivers, western mule whackers and north woods timber choppers.

With my hand on my heart I solemnly affirm that not one of these alleged experts ever employed any save the dependable age-seasoned standbys: to wit, seven adjectives, two strong nouns, one ultrastrong noun and one compound phrase—the commonest of all.

Romance for King Zog.

FOR about the fifth time comes a plaintive plea from Albania, one of those remote little border countries of eastern Europe where every now and then peace threatens to break out. They have a king over there. At least they had a king at the time of going to press with this dispatch. His name is King Zog. This is neither a typographical error nor a vaudeville gag. The name positively is Zog, and radio comedians may make the most of it.

For many months he has been paging the world for a wife. The qualifications call for the lady to have $5,000,000. His majesty would also like for her to turn Moham-medan, but the main requirement is that $5,000,000 bank roll.

California's Coastline.

WHILE it's quite a rosy coastline, California has at present only one coastline. This is a source of mortification to patriotic native sons, Florida having two such, one on either side, besides a dampish area in the middle known as the Everglades.

Still, in a way, California's silvery strand continues to excel. Within easy speeding distance we have at least one beach resort where, when Palm Springs folds up on account of the heat, many of our artistic colony go to relax. So wholeheartedly do some go in for this that often you may stand off a quarter of a mile and hear them relaxing.

Occasionally a relaxationist relaxes so completely that it takes weeks for him to get over it. His friends leave him at the seaside only to gather at the bedside.

The Changing World.

IT WAS Susan B. Anthony who dedicated her life to the cause of emancipation for her sex. But it was her grandniece who lately attained the headlines by suggesting that, with the addition of a buckle here and a ribbon there, a nightie would make a suitable evening gown for almost any occasion.

Thus do we see how from one generation on to another is handed down the flame of genius and service to womankind.

But, although the inspired suggestion is already weeks old, there still are no signs that it is finding advocates among the queen bees of the cultural hive. Maybe the reason is that a belle of the Hollywood artistic group would feel so ostentatiously overdressed if she wore a full-fashioned nightie to a social function.

"Wall of Windows" in Bryce Canyon Park

Towering above the floor of Bryce Canyon National park is this huge knife-like formation, a slender ridge of eroded rock, pierced by large openings. To it has been given the name "Wall of Windows." Its fantastic minaret-like top, in varying shades of red, brown and ochre, stands brilliant in the afternoon sun in silhouette against the blue sky. This is a Union Pacific railroad photograph.

THE HERALD OF MISTRESS SPRING

PETER RABBIT was sitting in the middle of the dear Old Brier Patch. Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun had just begun his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky, and Peter was wondering where he would go and what he would do when he heard a sound that caused him to suddenly sit up very straight with both ears pointing right up to the sky. Peter held his head for a minute and then he heard it again. This time he jumped straight up in the air and kicked his heels together for joy. It was just the softest, sweetest whis-he had to stop to get his breath. "There, that's how glad I am!" he cried. "Now tell me all the news, Winsome!"

"Oh, I couldn't, Peter. I couldn't tell you all. There's too much to tell and I haven't got time now. You know there are others waiting for me."

"But do tell me if Mistress Spring is most here," begged Peter.

"Of course she is! Don't you know I am her herald? I've come all the way up from down south just ahead of her to tell everybody that she is coming. You know, that is what tle! It wasn't merry and it wasn't sad; it was just beautiful. And it seemed to come from everywhere and nowhere—just out of the air.

"Oh, Winsome, I'm So Glad You've Got Here at Last; I'm So Happy I Could Sing for Joy."

"Winsome Bluebird!" cried Peter Rabbit. "Oh, it's Winsome Bluebird! I wonder where he is! He sounds a long way off and yet he may be close by. Oh, I do wonder if I'm the first one to hear him!"

"I guess you are, Peter," said a soft voice. "I guess you are, because you see I've just arrived and I came straight to the Old Brier Patch, because I just knew that you would be looking for me and I wanted you to have the pleasure of being the first to see me. Why don't you look up in the little cherry tree over your head, Peter, and say something?"

Of course, Peter felt very foolish, and he looked just as he felt, yet he saw Winsome Bluebird sitting right over his head. You see that soft, beautiful voice had seemed to come from everywhere, and Peter hadn't been able to tell just where it did come from.

"Oh, Winsome!" he cried. "Oh, Winsome, I'm so glad you're here at last! I'm so happy I could sing for joy."

"Ho, ho, Peter!" laughed Winsome Bluebird. "Do try it. I should love to hear you sing."

Peter grinned. "Well, anyway, if I can't sing I can dance," he cried and right away began the funniest little dance that ever was. Finally the problem is to make the hands work as closely together as possible, to eliminate any tendency toward friction between the two. Good golf is a matter of smooth stroking and there is trouble enough along the swing's path without handicapping the stroke at the start. There are craftsmen in every field who grip the tools differently and golf is no exception. Two of the greatest golfers of this era, Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen, used different grips, the former overlapping and the latter, interlocking. Most of the good golfers of the present day possess large hands and this makes the problem of which of these two grips to use comparatively simple for both. Many champions of the past have used this grip. The point to remember is that the hands must work in both directions equally well.

a herald is for. I had rather be the herald of Mistress Spring than anything else in all the world," Winsome half lifted his beautiful blue wings as he said this.

"Don't go!" cried Peter. "I guess I know how you feel. It must be perfectly splendid to make everybody glad and happy as you do. I—I wish I could be a herald!"

Winsome Bluebird laughed—the sweetest laugh. "I guess you don't need to be a herald to make people glad to see you, Peter," he said. "Besides, you know you can be sort of a herald by telling everybody you meet that I am here."

"That's so!" Peter cried. "That's one reason I like to be the first to see or hear you. It's great fun to see how pleased everybody is when they know that you have arrived. I—I hope nothing will happen to make Mistress Spring late."

FIRST-AID TO AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

PAINT AND VARNISH REMOVERS

PAINT and varnish removers do not actually remove a finish; their action is to soften the oils of a finish sufficiently to permit it to be wiped and scraped off. Liquid removers are a combination of solvents, such as wood alcohol, benzene, amyl acetate, and other liquids, usually combined with paraffin to check evaporation. Liquid removers act quickly; usually in not more than 20 minutes. By that time paint and varnish will be so softened that they can be wiped off with a rough cloth. For old paint, a second application may be necessary, and scraping with a putty knife. With liquid removers, there is no raising of the grain of wood.

The vapors of liquid varnish removers are inflammable, and care must be taken to avoid fire. I know of one case, and it was not unusual, when this was overlooked with disastrous results. Liquid varnish remover was being used to take the finish from a table. The work was being done in a small room, and as it was winter, the windows were closed. In the middle of things the worker lighted a cigarette; there was an instant flash of fire, and the house was saved from destruction only by quick work with an extinguisher.

When using a liquid remover, there should be good ventilation to carry off the vapors, and there should be no flames nearby. To avoid trouble, a liquid varnish remover should not be used in a cellar when the heater fire is burning, nor in a kitchen with a lighted coal range; with a gas range the pilot light should be put out. With ordinary and common sense precautions, liquid varnish removers can be used with complete safety.

The use of a liquid paint and varnish remover should be followed by liberal washing with turpentine to take up the paraffin.

Certain alkalis have the effect of paint removers; for example, wash-

GRAPHIC GOLF

GRIPPING THE CLUB

THERE are three ways of gripping the golf club: the overlapping, interlocking and the natural, two handed grip. In the overlapping grip the little finger of the right hand overlaps the forefinger of the left. With the interlocking grip the little finger of the right hand is interlocked with the forefinger of the left. A large number of the good golfers today employ one or the other of these grips and their value lies largely in creating better coordination of movement between the two hands.

The problem is to make the hands work as closely together as possible, to eliminate any tendency toward friction between the two. Good golf is a matter of smooth stroking and there is trouble enough along the swing's path without handicapping the stroke at the start. There are craftsmen in every field who grip the tools differently and golf is no exception. Two of the greatest golfers of this era, Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen, used different grips, the former overlapping and the latter, interlocking. Most of the good golfers of the present day possess large hands and this makes the problem of which of these two grips to use comparatively simple for both. Many champions of the past have used this grip. The point to remember is that the hands must work in both directions equally well.

"There was a time," says stumping Stella, "when a politician could smoke a farmer out of his hole on election day with a cheap cigar."

small hands and to overcome this the two handed grip is used. The hands placed on the club in the manner illustrated above, cover a good portion of the shaft and if held on the light side will co-operate together well. Many champions of the past have used this grip. The point to remember is that the hands must work in both directions equally well.

JUST GO FISHIN'

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHEN the world is lookin' bluer
Then you ever saw her, knew her,
When you only stumble through her
Day by day.
When you think you're weary of her,
Banker, worker, lawyer, lover,
There's a way you can recover
Right away.
When discouraged and disgusted,
When you're practically busted,
There's a way to get adjusted
And to smile—
From your cares and competition
Take a little intermission,
Jump the joint, and just go fishin'
For awhile.
Why, ya great big mastadon ya,
When your girl has gone back on ya,
As she ought to do, doggone ya,
You're so mean,
When you're troubled in the gizzard,
When you're sick from A to Izzard,
When you look just like a lizard,
Blue and green,
Then to cure each ache and shiver,
And to regulate your liver,
Row a boat, or wade a river
For a mile—
Yes, to feel the old ambition
And to git back in condition,
Jump the joint, and just go fishin'
For awhile!

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

© Public Ledger, Inc.

TO THE expert palmist, the third finger is one of the most informative of the major elements of the hand. The first finger, you know, is a general index of power and purpose. The second finger likewise reveals the kind of conscious and subconscious thought through which the inner self finds expression. The third finger, which we are now to consider, denotes with equal accuracy the outlets through which ambition and thought can most successfully combine for manifestation.

Attributes of the Third Finger.
You may look to the third or Finger of Brilliance, as it is called, for evidence of the creative faculties or lack of them. Remember that the word "creative" is not used solely in the artistic sense.

This finger may be broadly classified into six types. The first of these is the Normal Finger of Brilliance, which is moderate in length, straight and rather smoothly knuckled, and evenly spaced between the second and fourth fingers when the hand is opened wide. This is the third finger of the average everyday man or woman who possesses a normal amount of the creative faculty.

ing soda, trisodium phosphate, and lye. Of these, lye has the great disadvantage of being injurious to wood fibers, and should be used only when this effect is of no importance. Washing soda and trisodium phosphate dissolved in water in the proportion of 1 to 3 pounds to the gallon are usually satisfactory. They may have the effect of raising the grain of wood, which calls for sandpapering after the wood has dried.

Short Dance Frock

Short dance frocks are becoming a trend of fashion. This one, which has a matching bolero jacket, is of black wrap print taffeta with pastel colored flowers. The new low waistline is an important style note. The slippers are designed especially for short evening dresses.

Modern-to-the-Minute

AS RIGHT as rain, and as cooling, are these clever young modes for the woman who sews. Each is simple to make, pleasant to wear, and may possibly be the difference between a modern and a mediocre wardrobe for you this summer. Sew-Your-Own wants to help you look your best, to stamp you modern-to-the-minute, and therefore is anxious and proud to present today's trio.

A Two Piecer for Chic.

If he tells you you're just a nice armful you are the right size and type to wear the blouse 'n' skirt shown above, left. The waistcoat idea is very much the thing in blouses. The skirt is terribly young and figure flattering. What more could any little heart desire? You can have this smart ensemble for a song and a minimum of stitches. Think of the countless summer occasions ahead that all but specify this very outfit.

Not Smart Matron.

You should sue for slander anyone who calls you a Smart Matron when you don this gratifying new fashion (above center). You step into an entirely new size range when you step forth in this frock. So simple is its technique—merely a deftly designed feminine jabot, softly draped contours, and a meticulously slender skirt—yet so effective. It will thrill you in marquisette chiffon or lace, and it will keep you deliciously cool.

Snappy for Sports.

Play the net or the grandstand in the sports dress at the right and feel perfectly confident in any event. There isn't one among us who hasn't a real yen for a streamlined all-of-a-piece sportster that's on and off in a jiffy, launders easily, and comes up smiling time after time. You can concoct something clever of seersucker or pique and complete the whole thing in an afternoon. Why not order your size today and have all-summer benefit of a really companionable sports dress? Pattern 1302 is for sizes 14 to 42. Size 18 requires 2 1/4 yards of 39 inch material for the blouse, 2 1/4 yards for the skirt.

Pattern 1286 is for sizes 36 to 42. Size 38 requires 4 1/4 yards of 39 inch material.

Pattern 1915 is for sizes 14 to 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards of 35 inch material plus 3 1/2 yards of bias binding to finish edges as pictured.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., Room 1020, 211 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. Price of patterns, 15 cents (in coins) each.

The Consumer's Privilege

THE term "patent medicine" is a misnomer. Originally it signified a patent of royal favor granted long before there was a United States patent office. In our time, when few medical products are patented, national advertising identifies the integrity of the manufacturer of scientifically prepared proprietary drug products. Advertising enables the public to choose from the world's output, to accept or reject on a basis of merit. This is a greater privilege than royal favor. And it is a privilege that comes to you through the service of your local druggist.

PERFECTION MADE
SUPERFEX
the Oil Burning Refrigerator

Check these features

• Greatest economy — users say fuel costs as little as $10 a year.

• Most dependable refrigeration — both air and water cooled, by exclusive Super Condenser top. Refrigeration is continuous although burners operate only 2 hours a day. No constant flame.

• Trouble-free — no electricity, running water, outside connections or moving parts.

It's Made for You

SUPERFEX gives you "modern" refrigeration exactly as it should be made in your kitchen, because SUPERFEX was primarily designed for rural service. The exclusive Super Condenser top, providing both air and water cooling of the refrigerating system, makes it the "cheapest-to-run" refrigerator of any type. The kerosene burner operates only 2 hours and goes out automatically — no constant flame — yet give you complete refrigeration all the time. No electricity, running water, piping or moving parts — it's trouble free, built to last, and you can use it or move it anywhere.

Let us show you all of the marvelous SUPERFEX advantages at first-hand — a demonstration in your own kitchen. SUPERFEX is easy to buy on our easy terms.
